Jocelyn -- I got this info from Grandpa's Concurrence in Texas. He really was surprised to learn his mother had so many brothers & sisters. No one left in the Hardy to get more info. However, I accidentally learned where Grandpa Hardy's grandfather was buried.
I remember the tombstone said he died in 1921. His wife, Victoria always asked Bill if he remembered his grandfather and was always surprised that he didn't. When I saw the tomb stone I realized he was 102 at the time since he was born at the end of 1919. I think this is as far as I can go.

The Dawes were all anxious to know their history so we have a lot on it.

There is a rumor that my grandmother Caroline LaBarge was part Indian. She never wanted to talk about it but two or three of her sons (my uncles) look very American Indian.

I hope all this has been what you wanted.

Will be seeing you soon.
